

University of Toronto OISE Library, Toronto, ON

The library of the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education (OISE) at the University of Toronto is the largest academic education library in Canada. Their staff and collections support teacher training, graduate studies, professional development, and research and teaching in the field of education. OISE's collections include the Children's Literature Collection, the Curriculum Resources Collection, the Ontario Historical Education Collections, and the main Research Collection (Stacks).

Products Used

- M-633D: Digital Stereo Mixer
- DA-250F: Multichannel Power Amplifier
- BG-2120: Mixer Amplifier
- SR-H3S: Line Array Speaker
- PJ-304: Projection Speaker

Purpose

The library required a new audio system to produce strong and intelligible audio for presentations.

Challenge

With Hundreds of people using the library the existing system did not have enough power to amplify the sound. The building also had high ceilings and lots of glass and concrete which caused feedback and reverberation.

Solution

The combination of TOA products selected by our team provided excellent, intelligible sound especially when presentation were occurring. The SR-H3S Array speaker worked very well to fill the room completely with no feedback.

Feedback

TOA carefully put together a combination of equipment that provided excellent sound quality, including during presentations. The SR-H3S array speakers filled the entire room with intelligible audio and no feedback.
